Arguments in Impeachment Trial Closed at Senate Session Held Yesterday.

REED SPRINGS SURPRISE

Plea for Integrity of Judiciary L Made by Clayton for House Managers.

ad in the Senate anorthy after w octored Monday.

Almost the last act in the case was the calling of James D. Maher, a clerk of the United States Supreme Court, who preduced the record of the Joursell and Maker as the control of the Joursell and the Court of the Coursell and the Court of the Joursell and Maker as the control of the Joursell and Nashville.

Attorneys for Judge Archbald made a point yesterday of the fact that the Judge had placed all of this correspondence carried on by the railread attorney in the record of the case. Senators Hoke Smith, O'Gorman, Reed of Missouri, and others visited the clerk's effice to-day and examined the record and decided that it ought to be produced in the impeachment trial. Mr. Maher, the clerk, was requested to keep his office open until to clerk the court of the case. Senators when the Senate called him. The letter and the record showed that the word "not" had been interpolated with a lead pencil in both the letter written by Bruce to Judge Archbald in reply to certain inquiries propouncied by the judge and in the record of the case.

Just as the Serate was preparing to adjourn. Senator Reed of Missouri sprung the matter of the alteration of the record in the Louisville and Nashville case. He propounded a question to Judge Archbald designed to elject from the respondent whether he had made the change in the record. Attorneys for Judge Archbald promptly stated that they would object to the question unless they could have time to argue the matter after the judge had repited. Then Mr. Reed asked that the question he read to the Senate and let the Senate decide whether the judge should be considered to the senators of the senator of the senators of the senator of come that the question should not be asked. In the debate behind closed doors the Senators of Gorman, Reed, and Williams contended that the question was a proper one, and Senators Root, Clarks, and opening of the case. When the doors were opened Sensitor Reed withdrew the question.

The argument was begun yesterday by A. S. Worthington, of Washington, at torney for Judge Archlaid, who concluded the case for the defense, and he was followed by Congressman Henry D. Claysten of Alabama. chairman of the managers on the part of the House, who spoke for more than two hours. Mr. Worthington defended the judge and degled the charges by the managers of the Judge Archbald went in the Commerce Court he formed a plan to deal with railroads in the wholes also prechase of culin properties. The first of the charge of culin properties the formed and the commence of the properties of the control of the charge of the managers, was severe. He declared that the attenties on the other side had shown a skill and ingenity that saggested the work of the adept defending the common criminal.

A City in Itself

THE SOUTHERN BUILDING is the most popular and populous office building in the National Capital, and is generally regarded as the finest office building in the South. About 14,000 people pass through its doors daily. From 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. the average of tenants and visitors is 1,600 per hour. The tenants of the Southern Building represent industrial and financial interests whose combined resources aggregate many millions of dollars. Located at 15th and H Streets (the new financial center of Washington) the Southern Building affords you unparalleled advantages for the location of your business offices-where you will be brought into daily personal contact with the maximum number of thrifty and successful citizens.

The space in the Southern Building is 93 per cent rented. The few remaining offices-still subject to lease—are all desirable outside rooms with splendid light and ventilation. The Renting Offices are located on the second floor, and your application for a lease should be filed promptly in order to receive favorable consideration.

WILLIAM FRANK THYSON, Manager Southern Building, 15th and H Sts. N. W.

The Southern Building at present has nine stories.' Being completed only fifteen months ago, it is of strictly modern architecture and equipped with every business facility, including four high-speed elevators which run at minute intervals. The original plans of the architects (the well-known firm of D. H. Burnham & Company, of Chicago) provided for the Management contemplates the early erection of these two additional stories in order to meet the demands for space made by various clubs, social organizations, and business corporations which cannot now be accommodated.
